OITY NEWS. Trotting Races at Woodlawn.

Yesterday afternoon the eport at Woodlawn gave unusual satisfaction to visitors and all concerned—except, perhaps, the unlucky ones, who bet on the wrong horse. Still, even the loosers were pleased with the good order and excellent deportment upon the grounds. The attendance, considering the short notice, was quite large. Among the apoctators were a number of lagies; and, with such rood order and decorum observed by all. Woodlawn will resume its wonted popularity and become a general resort during the racing ceasen of all lovers of the turi and fine stock. The first race was a match-

SAD.—Some time ago a very respectable Fourth Michigan regiment, was arrested by the military authorities in Jeffersonville, on someslight charge, and brought over to this city and confined in the guardhouse at Barracks No. 1. His name was James White. He was shortly afterwards paroled, and was boarding at the house of Mr. Fisher, on Market street, below Fifth. Yesterday morning he was taken ill and died auddenly. It is supposed that his heart was so grieved over the diagrace of his arrest as to cause his unexpected death. His mother, who is in the city. was told of her son's death, and at once proceeded to the room, where she found her boy a corpse, but it was some time before the poor woman could be convinced of the fact that he Was no more.

NEW CASE STORE .- We take pleasure in reerring our readers and the public generally to the advertisement of Mr. Samuel Wilson in another column of to-day's paper. It will be seen that he has a most eplendid stock of dry goods, extracts and perfumeries, coats, pants, notions and fancy goods, all of which he sells at prices to suit the heavy decline in rold. Mr. Wilson and his clerks are clever gentlemen, and they take pleasure in exhibiting, as well as selling, goods, &c., and we hope our citizens, especially the ladies, and people from the country, will extend him a liberal share of atronage. His store is on Fourth street, between Main and Market.

The project for a railroad up Market reet was up before the Board of Aldermen last night. There is just about as much use the bottom of a door to admit a cat and her tten through, without opening it. The hing is ridiculous. Besides, it will hardly be intended that market houses should be recved, to make way for a railroad, not needd for the accommodation of the public.

The Nashville Railroad Company and the Adams Express Company have heretofore been in the habit of requiring the prepayment of freight going below, which, to some extent, has interfered with the trade of the city; as with rule in force, goods had to be shipped by boats, whereas, if such is not the case, goods could be shipped by railroad, which would enable our merchants to chip goods to Nashville much sooner than by river. In view of this fact, Mr. Armstrong offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to welt upon the President of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and the Adame Express Company, asking the recinding of the regulations of said road, requiring the pre-payment of all freight shipped from this

A SHAME.—We saw at the office of the Provost Marshal, vesterday, a group of degraded women-victims of latemparance. They were arrested on the Nashville railroad in the outakirts of the city and brought in for trial as vagrants. Ali of them were refugees and booked as follows : Mary McFarland, Martha Brown, Nancy Margaret Ann Burress, and Josephine Aller. They were all young in years, but intemperates and exposure bad stamped themselves upon the bloated conntenance of every one. Degradation had driven from them every spark of self respect, and they seemed coatest with the mere idea that they were living beings. In the hall lay a young and once beantiful girl, scarce sixteen years of age, clad in miserable garments, and in a state of beastly intoxication. She had drank a pint of whicky, waich, the others said, a coldier had given to her. Her name was Josephine Alien and she was from Chattancoas, and, we learn, has a very respectable married elster living in this city. We left her lying in unconsciousuess, but it would have made the stontest heart ache with pity to look npon that picture-to see so young a giri breathing ber life away in drunken debauchery, lost to all honor and self respect. Cursed be the foul, polluted heart and paleted the hand that would offer the cup of misery to such a girl as Josephine Alien.

WITH CORRUPT, DISCRDERED or vitiated Blood, you are sick silover. for in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and acod for nothing. But you cannot have good hea th while your blood is impure. ATRE'S SARSA-PARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of ilfe into vigorous action, restering the health organs of his mis vigorous action, reserving the neath and expelling disease. Hence it repleily cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Sorefula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Utcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Tetter, or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cuncer or Cancer-ous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterkl ity, elso Syphilis or Venerial Diseases. Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases. T.y ATRE'S SARSAPA-BILLA, and sec for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.
During the late years the public have been misled by arge bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Biresparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sassapariila, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsapariila which lood the market, until the name Itself has become nonymous with imposition and cheat. Et'll we call is compound "farsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloguy which rests upon it. We think we have ground r believing it has virtnes which are irresistible he the rdinary ron of the discases it is intended to cure. We en only assure the sick, that we offer them the hest alterative which we know how to produce, and we have eason to believe it is by far the most effectival purific of the blood yet direcvered by anybedy. AYER'S CHERRY PROTORAL Is so universally known to urpass every other remedy for the sure of Coughe, bilds, Influenca, Houveeness, Croup, Bronchitis. FINANCE AND TRADE OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT.

THURSDAY EVENING, May 18th, 1868.
Business remains at a perfect stand-still, and there is at present no indication of its being resumed for some time. The only buyers now are the local dealers, or arties having small orders from the interior to fill ippers cannot operate, from the fact that prices ar board cities. No sales of flour, worthy of mention were reported. Buyers are holding back in anticipa tion of still lower prices, and holders refuse to presstocks on the market, knowing that were they to do so they would be compelled to submit to a material de-cline from the prices asked. Superfine flour may be nuoted nominally at $6 25, but we doubt whether much could either be bought or sold at that figure. Extra are held at $6 75@7 25. The latter price is generall onsidered an entside ene, but small sales of trad brands are occasionally made at it. Family is in de mand at $7 75@$. A NEW POET LAUBEATE. Theckersy's Magazine, in London, paid Tennyron, the Poet Laureste of England, sixteen hundred dollars for a peem, and the following two s arass are just one halt of it, or eight hundred dollars worth :

What does little birdle eay,
In her nest at the peop of day?
Let me fly, asys little birdle—
Mother, let me fly away.
B rdie, rest a little longer,
Till thy tiny wings are etronger;
So she rests a little longer,
Then she flee away.

What does little baby say,
In her bed at peep of day?
Baby says, like little birdle,
Les me rice and haste away.
Baby, sleep a little longer,
Until her little lege grow stronger,
And after waiting, like the birdle,
Baby, too, shall fly away.

Isn't that grand? Isn't it the quintescent of poetry? Here's sixteen lines of our own, says an exchange, same style, same measure, and embodying about as much sentiment, for which we will wislingly take a quarter:

What does little froggle say, In his pond at peep of day? Let me ewim, east little froggle— Let me ewim, eays little froggie-Bulifrog, let me swim away. Froggie, wait a little longer, Till your little legs are stronger; So he mousts upon a chunk, And then into the pond ker ch-u-n-k.

What does little piggie eay,
In his sty at prep of day?
Piggie says, take little froggie,
Let me go and root to-day.
Piggie, wait a little longer,
Tril your emout grows band and stronger
If you suck a little longer,
Piggie then may root away.

The Three Wishes.

A wise Emperor made a law, that to every stranger who came to his court, a fried fish should be served. The servants were directed to notice if, when the stranger had eaten the fish to the bone on one side, he turned it over and began on the other side If he did, he was to be immediately seized, and on the third day thereafter he was to be put to death. But by a great stretch of imperial elemency, the culprit was permitted to utter one wish each day, which the Emperor pledged himself to grant, provid-ing it was not to spare his life. Many had already perished in consequence of this edict, when one day, a count and his young son presented themselves at his court. The fish was served as usual, and when the count had removed the fish from one side, he turned it over, and was about to com mence on the other when he was seized and thrown into prison, and was told of his approaching doom. Sorrow-stricken, the count's young son besought the Emperor to allow him to die in the room of his father; a favor which the monarch was pleased to accord him. The count was accordingly released from prison, and his son was thrown into his cell in his stead. As soon as this had been done, the young man said to the jailors-"You know I have a right to make three demands before I die; go and tell the Em-peror to send me his daughter, and a priest o marry us." This first demand was not much to the Emperor's taste, nevertheless he felt bound to keep his word, and he therefore complied with the request, to which the princess had no objection. occurred in the times when kings kept their treasures in a cave, or in a tower set apart for the purpose, like the Emperor of Mosoow in these days; and on the second day of his imprisonment the young man de manded the Emperor's Treasures.

If his first demand was a bold one, the second was no lesser so; still an Emperor's word is sacred, and having made the promise, he was forced to keep il; and the treas ures of gold and silver were placed at the disposal of the prisoner. Os getting possession of them, he distributed them pr made a host of friends by his liberality. The Emperor began now to feel exceed ingly uncomfortable. Unable to sleep, he rose early on the third morning and went with fear in his heart to the prison to hear what the third wish was to be.

"Now," said he to his prisoner, "tell me what your third demand, is, that it may be granted at once, and that you may be out of hand, for I am tired of your demands." "Sire," answered the prisoner, "I have but one more favor to request of your majesty, which when you have granted I shall die content. It is merely that you will cause the eyes of those who saw my father turn the fish over to be put out."

"Very good," replied the Emperor, "your demand is but naural, and springs from a good heart. Let the chamberlain be seized, he continued, turning to his guards. "I, sire!" continued the chamberlain; "I did not see anything—it was the steward."

But the steward protested with tears in his eyes that he had not witnessed anything of what had been reported, and said it was the butler. The butler declared that he had seen nothing of the matter, and it must be one of the valets.

But they protested that they were utterly ignorant of what had been charged against the count; in short it turned out that no body could be found who had seen the count commit the offence, upon which the princess said:

"I appeal to you, my father as to another Solomon. If notody saw the offence committed, the count cannot be guilty, and my husband is innocent."

The Emperor frowned and forthwith the courtiers began to murmur; then he smiled, and immediately their visages became ra-

"Let it be so," said his majesty. "Let him live, though I have put many a man to death for a lighter offence than his. But if he is not hung, he is married. Justice is A SINGULAR INCIDENT .- "There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreampt of in your philosophy. says Shakspeare, and so we are still constrained to say, as incidents occur that we cannot explain, and which baffle our efforts to account for them. One of these we are about to narrate. A few miles from the Kennebec river, in Maine, there resides a farmer, three of whose sons have fought in the service of their country, two of whom have given up their lives in the struggla with this wicked rebellion. In January, 1868, a member of this family, a little child of two and a half years old, was sick with diptheria. The mother, grandfather and other members of the family were there, ministering to the little sufferer. But the father of the child was absent. He was one of the sons already referred to, and was away in the service of his country. It would scarcely be supposed that a child so young would remember an absent one; but the father had so often been spokon of that, whether distinctly remembered or not, he was present to the mind of the child as a dearly loved object of affection. And now as the little one grows weaker and is anxiously watched and cared for, he said, in his feeble voice, "I want to go and see papa," and died.

We now pass to Falmouth, in Virginia.
There, in the regimental hospital, lies a sick soldier. He is far away from home and home privileges; but the surgeons and nurses care for him, and do what they can to help him; and that noble son of Maine, General Howard, ministers to his spiritual as well as his physical wants On the same evening on which tas child died General was in the hospital, when the soldier sat up and, pointing to the deer, said: "Look there, General." Seeing nothing, and sup-posing the man was delirious, he made but little reply; when the soldier again said with carnestness: "Don't you see, General?" He replied that he did not. "Why, how strange that you don't" said the soldier. There is a little boy coming in—it is my boy; and he is an angel." The soldier knew not that his child was sick. He himself died a few days afterward. A letter was afterward received at the hospital annour cing the death of the child; and when the father of the soldier went to Falmouth to obtain the body of his son, the surgeon made inquiries respecting the child, and narrated the soldier's vision; and it was found that the death of the child occurred at the same time as the father spoke of secing him. General movary are reported the surgeon. General Howard afterward cor- www. a. ross The writer learned the facts from the ther of the young soldier. He is a reliable Christian man, and Selectman of his town; and there is no doubt of the truth of his statements. We have no theory to propose as a solution of the mistery. We merely give the facts assingular and interesting.

Improved Self-Raking COMBINED

One of the greatest Labor-saving Machines of the age. Indispensable to Farmers these War Times.

TREAPS, IT RAKES, IT MOVE, IT SAVES ALL the Grain any boy who can drive team, can one rate the Self-Raker after it is set up, and it will do better raking than the mast experienced hand can do, in all kinds and conditions of grain.

This Mashine is no untried experiment, but has been in use by thousands all over the United States for the past four vears, and has almost driven Hand Rakers from the field. Many of our patrons have indigated other Machines, not half won non, to adout our feel-Raker, as a matter of economy, upon seeing how its aved the saved stain.

With the experience of the McCormicks of over twenty pears in making over 50 000 Peaps and Mowers, purchavers have a good guarantee that they shall have just what we premise—8. if other in Machine can be found at the following points in this state:
